WHO WILL BE U. S. SENATOR?

PROBABLE RESULT OF THE PRIMARY

The Question That is Agitating the Minds of North Carolina Democrats—The Primary an Unknown Quantity—Will the Country and Town Voters Divide?—Carr Said to be Gaining Strength in Guilford—One Point Upon Which All Are Agreed.

Discussion of the Senatorial question, to the exclusion of other political matters, continues unabated. When two Democrats meet the first question is, "What will be the result of the Senatorial primary?" And if the two voters chance to be of different opinions, each sets in to try to convert the other to his way of thinking. It is not often that one hears of a conversation, however, at least in Greensboro. Most people here have their minds made up.

This primary business is an unknown quantity, and this is just now puzzling the brains of a great many North Carolina people. It is a test of strength in the ranks of the Democratic party, and while it is easy to hazard a guess, no man can tell with any degree of certainty just what the result will be, either in reference to the candidates or the effect upon the party. Only one thing appears to be reasonably certain: The contest will result in drawing out the full strength of the party, for practically all Democrats will vote in the Senatorial primary.

The probable or possible line-up of this vote is what is causing politicians to lie awake at night, while their days are spent in feeling the pulse of the people. A Greensboro gentleman, a man of considerable experience in political matters, said today that he believed Gen. Carr would receive the bulk of the votes in the towns and cities, while Mr. Simmons would draw his strength, in the main, from the country. It is noticeable that so far the greater interest has been manifested in the towns, the country people saying but little. However, the fact that the country people are quiet is no indication that they have not made up their minds as to how they will vote.

Guilford has all along been counted strong for Carr, but the supporters of Mr. Simmons have never given up hope that he would carry the county. A local politician, who is in touch with the people, said this morning that Gen. Carr had undoubtedly gained strength within the past ten days, especially in the country.

People are actuated by various, and sometimes peculiar, motives in the support of their favorites. For instance, the Winston Journal of yesterday said: "A prominent Greensboro man who was in the Journal office this morning, on being asked about the Senatorial contest said he started out for Carr but observing that the Republicans were for the General, he changed sides and is now for Simmons."

While people are divided in opinion as to who should be Senator, there is one point upon which all are agreed: It is the prettiest political fight seen in North Carolina in many a day.

THE CHINESE GULLED US SURE.

IMPERIAL DECREE WAS FORGED.

The Object of the Forgery Was to Prevent the Allies Marching to Pao Ting Fu—Li Hung Chang Knows Nothing About It—Renewed Activity of the Boxers—Chaffee and Wilson Make a Call—To Meet the Ministers.

By Wire to The Telegram
Pekin, Oct. 17.—It is regarded as certain that the alleged imperial decree ordering the punishment of high officials was forged and concocted for the object of preventing the advance of the allies on Pao Ting Fu. Both Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang deny its authenticity.

Von Waldersee is expected to arrive here this evening (17th). Small marauding bands have become troublesome in the vicinity of the Summer palace, and punitive expeditions are being organized to proceed against them. There is renewed activity among the Boxers north of Peking. The Imperial troops assert that they can suppress the Boxers, but the allies may send an expedition against them. The United States minister and Generals Chaffee and Wilson returned Li Hung Chang's call this afternoon. Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang are conferring for the purpose of fixing a date for the first meeting with the ministers of the powers who are to decide upon the question of who shall be punished.

BIG CATCH OF SWAG.

General Chaffee's Troops Got $400,000 From the Chinamen, and Officials Have Been Trying to Hide It.
Special to Charlotte Observer.

Washington, Oct. 15.—It is now said that nearly $400,000, looted from the Chinese by the American forces, is in the possession of the United States, according to a government official who is in a position to know absolutely whereof he speaks. The loot was worth $378,000 instead of $278,000, as had been before rumored. It was deposited by General Chaffee in a Chinese bank, and certificates of indebtedness were forwarded here to the War Department, which deposited them with its account in the Treasury. Government officials do not know, nor do they seem particularly desirous of knowing, who took it as loot. There is an impression that it was a part of the Chinese government's reserve. Although "no war exists in China" it would accordingly be impossible to take spoils of the war, yet the officials think that the seizure under such circumstances was not exactly looting.

The secrecy with which the administration has enshrouded all the facts relating to the seizure of the money has been marked. As has already been told, Secretary Root, Adjutant General Corbin and Chief Clerk Schofield, of the War Department, all declared their ignorance of what had become of the loot. It is believed that the administration fears the political effect on the country should it become known that the American army in China had been engaged in pillaging the country through which it has passed. After the first reports of the outrages at Tien-Tsin by the allies reached this country, the administration asserted that the Americans had no part whatever in them. It is believed that the President fears publicity for the fact that the soldiers under General Chaffee seized in one lump nearly $400,000, which is now being held by the American government.

BURNED ON A FIRE ESCAPE

A Woman Trying to Make Her Way Down Perished in Full View of the Crowd—Eight Persons Burned to Death.
By Wire to The Telegram.

New York, Oct. 17.—A three story double frame tenement was burned early this morning. Eight inmates perished. Some were smothered in bed. Mrs. Anna Morowitz' nightgown caught fire, and she was burned to death on the fire escape in sight of an immense throng. The firemen and police made frantic efforts to rescue her, but without success.

WILLIAM L. WILSON DEAD.

Died at Lexington, Virginia, This Morning of Consumption.

By Wire to The Telegram.

New York, Oct. 17.—News was received this morning of the death of William L. Wilson, ex-Postmaster General. He died at Lexington, Va., this morning of consumption.

"WONDERFUL" SAID MR. BRYAN

THE DEMONSTRATION IN NEW YORK

The Candidate's Appearance in the City Was the Occasion of the Greatest Political Gathering in the History of the Country—Crowd Cheered for Fifteen Minutes and Went Wild—Great Ovation Along the Line of Movement from Place to Place—Four Talks During the Evening—The Hoffman House Dinner Cost $12 a Plate.

New York, Oct. 16.—Four hours before the time set for the opening of the doors—5:30 o'clock—Madison Square Garden, where Col. Bryan and the head of the State Democratic ticket, John B. Stanchfield, spoke, was besieged by crowds. Throngs gathered and massed before the two main entrances to the building on Fourth and Madison avenues, as early as 2 o'clock, hoping to get in when the doors were first opened. At 5:30 o'clock to the minute, the sound of exploding bombs outside the Garden announced the opening of the doors. Instantly there was a great rush by the people from the Madison avenue hallway and from the Twenty-sixth street entrance, which, according to police arrangements, was to be kept clear for ticket-holders. In the first rush were a few women who got seats near the speaker's stand. In less than ten minutes every seat on the floor was taken and the crowd which had begun to pour in from all sides, attacked the galleries. Five minutes later saw the balcony and a part of the galleries black with people. The rush was then over, but there came a steady stream through the principal doors and all empty seats were soon filled.

THE LIGHTS TURNED ON.

The crowd did not appear at first to be demonstrative. When the lights were turned on, there came a brief cheer. The big semi-circular electrical display over the speakers' stand bore the portraits of the two Democratic candidates, the Democratic emblem and the Democratic watchword, credited to Mr. Croker: "We wish to remain a free people," in great letters of light. Then the band struck up a national air, and as the people recognized "Yankee Doodle," they got up in their seats with uncovered heads and as they waved thousands of small American flags, shouted out the words of the song. The garden was decorated in the national colors only. Streamers radiated from the centre of the roof, underneath the skylight, to the heads of the iron pillars over the galleries, and festoons of flags with the colors of the different States, lined the galleries. The speakers' stand was draped simply with American flags and red, white and blue bunting.

ENTRY OF BRYAN AND CROKER.

At 6:30 o'clock the only seats remaining vacant in the entire garden was an occasional box, the tickets for which remained good until 7 o'clock. The crowd was orderly and frequent performances by the band brought out enthusiasm. The arrival of prominent Tammany men before the opening of the meeting brought out the first strong applause of the evening. As 7 o'clock approached, the hour when Col. Bryan was expected to arrive, the crowd began to warm up. The garden was jammed. The police kept the aisles fairly well cleared and back of the gallery seats there was not an inch of available space. Col. Bryan entered the garden at 7:15 o'clock. As the face of Mr. Croker, behind which appeared Col. Bryan's, was seen, the crowd burst forth in one prolonged yell. Everyone stood tiptoe on his seat and the garden was a sea of waving flags. As Col. Bryan, escorted by Mr. Croker, mounted the speakers' stand, the cheering was continuous. The two climbed the stairs and made their way to the front, followed by the reception committee. Col. Bryan and Mr. Croker frequently responded to the cheering by bowing to the vast audience and the faces of both men were wreathed with smiles.

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF CHEERING.

Just behind the two, as they mounted the platform, Mayor Van Wyck escorted Edward M. Shepard, who acted as chairman of the meeting. The cheering continued, now dying, now being renewed with increased vigor. It continued for five minutes, not abating when Col. Bryan rose to his

$75,000 FOR THE WATERWORKS

ALDERMEN WILLING TO PAY THIS.

The Board Makes Another Proposition and Gives the Water Company Time to Consider—If the Proposition is Not Accepted the Water Committee Has Instructions to Put in a System—City Warrants Will Hereafter Bear Interest—To Meet Fire Companies Friday Night.

The war dogs have been called in and white-winged peace again hovers over the city. Another turn has been taken in the waterworks transaction, which has vexed the minds of the aldermen, and others, for many moons. The aldermen have made another proposition for the purchase of the plant, and it is now "up to" the Greensboro Water Supply Company to either accept or decline the proposition. In the event of the latter course being pursued, the water committee has instructions to proceed with the work of installing a new system of waterworks.

Aldermen Denny and Ellington were the only members absent from the adjourned meeting of the board last night. There was some routine business to be transacted before the discussion of the waterworks question was taken up.

Alderman Boyd offered a resolution to the effect that all warrants hereafter issued by the city shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. from date until the city treasurer shall serve notice that he is ready to pay the indebtedness, when the interest shall cease. All warrants are to be paid in the order they are issued.

Alderman Hunter offered a resolution to the effect that, since the material considerations which moved the board to offer $87,500 for the waterworks are now lacking, the board declines to purchase the plant at the said price. After considerable discussion, pro and con, the resolution was adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Boyd, Hunter, Joyner, Love, Scott and Sergeant.

Nays—Elam, Merrimon, Phillips and Sherwood.

A resolution to offer $75,000 for the plant, with the proper safeguards, was then adopted. Alderman Boyd casting the only dissenting vote. The resolution stipulates that if the proposition is not accepted by the Greensboro Water Supply Company by the 26th inst. the water committee shall proceed with the necessary arrangements for putting in and operating an independent system of waterworks for the city.

The board adjourned to meet in special session Friday night, at which time the members of the Hook and Ladder Company and the Eagle Hose Company are invited to appear before the board for a conference with a view to arranging for the continuance of these companies in the fire department.

AN INTERESTING VOLUME.

Autobiography and Journal of Mrs. Frances M. Bumpass—The Work on Sale.

"The Autobiography and Journal of Mrs. Frances M. Bumpass" is a little volume that will appeal to many people in Greensboro and wherever the subject was known. The work was compiled by Miss Eugenia H. Bumpass, of this city, and edited by Mrs. F. A. Butler, of Nashville, Tenn., who was for many years associated with Mrs. Bumpass in the woman's missionary work of the Southern Methodist Church.

In addition to the autobiography and journal, the little volume contains sketches of Mrs. Bumpass by Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson and a friend, and tributes by Mrs. J. R. Brooks and several missionary societies and boards. The book is on sale at Mr. S. A. Kerr's book store for 25 cents a copy. The proceeds will be devoted to the cause of missions.

The book will be appreciated particularly by those who enjoyed an acquaintance with this sainted servant of God, who, though dead, still exerts a powerful influence for good.

Frost from Maine to North Carolina.

The Weather Bureau at Washington announces that frost will fall tonight from Maine to North Carolina, from eastern Tennessee and the Ohio valley.

ALAMANCE MILLS CLOSED.

THOUSANDS OF IDLE OPERATIVES.

MHI Owners Deny Their Operatives the Right of Organization and Discharge Them for Not Renouncing Membership in the Textile Union—A Big Gathering of Laboring People in Graham—No Signs of a Back-down on Either Side—Union Will Provide for the Homeless.

The cotton mill trouble in Alamance county has reached an acute stage. Nearly all the mills have either closed or are running with greatly reduced forces of operatives as the result of notices posted some days ago notifying all employees who would not give up membership in the Textile Union to consider themselves discharged after the 15th.

Very few, if any, of the operatives withdrew from the union, and now hundreds of men, women and children are idle. It is said that since the notices were posted by the mill owners the union has received a large number of new members from among the ranks of those who would not be intimidated by their employers.

Yesterday a meeting of the members of the union was held in Graham, being attended by several thousand persons. Speeches were made by C. P. Davis, State organizer of the Textile Union, and others.

Having been thrown out of employment, a majority of the operatives, of course, have no homes. The union will provide for these until they can secure employment elsewhere. If necessary, it is said, tents will be purchased to supply them with shelter.

As yet there is no indication of a back-down on the part of either the operatives or the mill owners, and there is no telling where the trouble will end. Of course the owners can better afford to have the mills stand idle than can the operatives, who are dependent upon their daily labor for bread. However, this does not weaken the determination of the laboring people to stand firm for what they deem their rights and privileges.

KILLING AT SANFORD.

Policeman Scott Kills D. K. McIver Who Was Attacking Him With a Knife.

Special to Charlotte Observer
Sanford, Oct. 16.—During the performance of Sparks' circus here yesterday afternoon Policeman J. P. Scott shot and killed D. K. McIver, the particulars of which are about as follows:

McIver asked Scott to have another man move his horse off the sidewalk, as he had been required to move his. Scott started to have the horse moved when McIver followed him up, using very boisterous language. He was asked to stop and failing to do so Chief of Police Ed. Petty came up and told him if he didn't desist he would be arrested. He pulled out a knife and stabbed Petty in the left breast just above the heart, a receipt book in his pocket being the only thing that saved his life. He also cut him in one or two places on the arm.

He then turned upon Scott and made a lunge at him, but before he could get in his work Scott pulled his pistol out and fired at him, the ball entering his right side, passing through the liver and heart and ranging just under the skin in the left side. He ran a few steps and fell, dying instantly. During the fight he was struck on the head twice by a mace in the hands of Petty.

Scott and Petty were placed under arrest. Dr. G. McLeod, the county coroner, is here with a jury and expects to finish the inquest and trial tomorrow. McIver leaves a wife and four small children.

Funeral of Mrs. Rankin.

The funeral service over the remains of the late Mrs. Jane Rankin was held at 11 o'clock this morning at the home of Mr. J. R. Wharton. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. E. W. Smith and interment made in the Presbyterian cemetery. The pallbearers were: Messrs. J. W. Scott, C. M. Vanstony, G. W. Denny, E. M. Hendrix, J. L. Brockmann and S. A. Kerr.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 17.—Mr. Norton, of Johnston county, is here, and he brought some lively news from that good old Democratic county. Fifteen Democrats, some among them the most prominent in the county, have been arrested on warrants sworn out by D. T. Massey, R. I. Wallace and Robert Saunders, charging them with intimidation and assault upon D. T. Massey last July at Selma, Massey being a Populist candidate for the Legislature. Among the fifteen arrested are such sterling citizens as Ed. S. Abell and R. J. Noble. There are warrants for 51 in all, but the others have not yet been served. The fifteen so far arrested were required to give $500 bond each for appearance October 23, at which time the hearing is set. The men who serve out the warrants are Populists or Republicans.

Secretary Pearsall, of the Democratic State committee, has returned from a trip to Chicago and Cincinnati, where he went to see National Chairman Jones. He says the campaign is lively in the West, and that the Democrats are jubilant.

The negro minstrels took the town yesterday. There were five Raleigh negroes in the aggregation. The first automobile ever seen here was quite a feature.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction in this county says it is so extremely difficult to get first grade negro teachers that he fears he will have to lower the standard.

M. C. Noble devoted yesterday to an inspection of three white and three negro public schools. It had been three years since he had visited them, and he declared he had never seen so great an improvement in the same space of time, particularly as to the lower grades.

Commissioner of Agriculture Patterson to-day received a very important letter from Dr. Cooper Curtice, who was so valuable as State veterinarian here, and who now holds that position in Rhode Island. Dr. Curtice in his letter dwells upon the matter of the cattle quarantine, and says that at the annual meeting of the Association of Live Stock Sanitary Boards of the United States, recently held, it was agreed that there should be an open session for those States which had no local legislation to the contrary. This means that cattle may be shipped from all points east of the quarantine line in North Carolina to Virginia and points North, on to Kentucky and Tennessee. The driving of cattle from any point in the quarantine district of North Carolina to the exempted district is not permitted. Cattle from Georgia are not permitted to be driven through North Carolina for shipment except for such as the government may exempt from quarantine. No North Carolina cattle may be driven into the exempted portion of North Carolina. Cattle from Polk county, Tennessee, cannot be driven into Cherokee county, North Carolina. All cattle from North Carolina will thereby be admitted into Northern markets without restriction, if shipped by rail.

Commissioner Patterson says the sales of fertilizer tags are greater this autumn than they were at this period last year.

George K. Pritchard, of Mitchell, is here. He came to see Gov. Russell to get a pardon for Anderson, the noted "mica mine murderer," of Mitchell county.

A sudden request for the electors of the three parties in North Carolina having been received, an effort was made to get the Republican nominees. Nobody here knows all of them, and in no Republican paper can the list be found. The electors of that party evidently "cut very little ice" in North Carolina in this year of grace 1900.

On the street was seen to-day a tall and fine-looking mulatto man, dressed in black broad cloth, and with a large soft hat; in his hand a cane with a head of buckhorn. His manner was a model of politeness. It was James H. Jones, who was a trusted servant of

MARK HANNA QUESTIONED.

A Workman Asked Him What About the Coal Strike—"Settled" Said He; "All Wind," Said the Workman.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 15.—Senator Hanna, Senator Frye, of Maine, and the Republican notables who left Chicago this morning for a tour of the Northwest, made their first stop at Racine Junction, Wisconsin, where a large crowd, composed principally of workmen from near-by shops, was in waiting.

"Hello, Mark!" cried some one in the crowd.

"Hello, how do you do boys?" said Senator Hanna, with a laugh.

Senator Hanna spoke briefly in part as follows: "You've heard a great deal about the different issues in this campaign. There are only three weeks left and we have not time to talk about anything but the issues that interest you and me. And that issue is our present conditions and the continuation of them. The full dinner pail is the best argument I know of."

A voice—"How about the coal mines?"

"The coal mines are all right. The strike will be settled this week."

A voice—"All wind."

"The only thing I know of that has got a superfluity of wind are Bryan Democrats. I want to ask this audience of workingmen what has W. J. Bryan ever done for this country? There is not a man here but that knows that William McKinley has been a better friend of the working people than any man this country has ever produced."

IN THE CONSTITUTION OR OUT OF IT?

Since the foundation of the government the best intellects that our country has produced have exercised themselves over the problem of what might or might not be constitutional. Over this question the giants of the past have contended with a stubbornness and a determination never excelled in forensic argument. The statesmanship of the first half of the century of our national existence was given almost wholly to a theoretical discussion of this wonderful instrument. From the very beginning there were wide differences of opinion, and the very men who were contemporaries of the constitutions' makers took different views of its relation to different questions. We are all too familiar with the gigantic struggle which shook this continent as a result of the differences of opinion among our best thinkers as to what was or was not constitutional.

Even now there is a great question before the country as to the function of our constitution. The old question as to its application to acquired territory is up as hotly as ever. We have one party contending that the government cannot own and govern acquired territory without applying to it all the provisions of the constitution, and another asserting that it can. That is, one party says we must and can only govern our newly acquired territory under the constitution and subject to its limitations, while the other says that Congress can govern arbitrarily, without reference whatever to the constitution. This great question comes before the Supreme Court on the 12th of next month, and two cases involving the principle are to be decided. One is the case of a New York tobacco importer. He appealed from a decision of a District Court which made tobacco dutiable under the Porto Rican tariff bill. The question is here, as in the other case, is Porto Rico a part of the United States or not? If the decision confirms the lower court that tobacco from Porto Rico is dutiable, then Porto Rico is foreign soil, for no tariff duties may be levied between different sections of the United States. The other case comes from the Philippines and involves the same question. A soldier attempted to bring home a quantity of diamonds. Customs officials seized them as smuggled goods. The soldier began suit for their recovery on the ground that the Philippines are a part of the United States and therefore a law compelling a duty to be paid on goods coming from there here is unconstitutional. The decisions in these cases will be awaited with the utmost interest, involving as they do, all the past, as well as the future dealings that we may have with our new territories.

Shall it be within the constitution or without it?

Mr. Josephus Daniels, of Raleigh, has just returned from an observation trip in Ohio, and is of the opinion that that State is safe for Bryan. The Washington Post, independent, had a special man in that State at the same time and he began his letter with the statement that the State is certain for McKinley. Each give figures to prove his contention, and there you have it. For one we have learned to pay no attention whatever to political forecasts in really doubtful States. Mr. Henry George, in 1896, toured Ohio and other States for the purpose of giving the New York Journal an utterly impartial forecast—to find out the truth the Journal said. Now if any man could have made an impartial statement, Henry George could, but he didn't. He gave the State to Bryan, but McKinley carried it. We pinned our faith to Mr. George and he failed us and so, oh, we'll wait for the official count.

The New York Sun is taking up a large amount of space each day in reporting interruptions that Col. Roosevelt receives at various points, and the word-bouts that Hanna has with "toughs" in his audiences. These stories are no doubt largely, if not wholly, fakes. The idea is to charge that they are caused by the teachings of Mr. Bryan. This is the meanest and most false thing that the campaign has so far developed. When Mr. Bryan was interrupted by a drunken tough he asked that the fellow be not punished. When Mr. Roosevelt meets a like irresponsible interruption he goes snorting over the country about it and "paramounting" the issue.

Mr. Bryan certainly spoke an important truth, so far as he is concerned, in his speech in New York last night, when he said that the Democratic party said honestly what it believed and told the people what it expected to do. There's no uncertainty about what Mr. Bryan will try to do, whether he is successful or not.

When Mr. Bryan was in New York in 1896 he ate a $1 dinner. Last evening he partook of a $12 one. Does this ratio represent the one existing between the Democratic chances in that year and this in the Empire State?

The Honorable Web Davis, who, in his most melting strain of oratory, refers to Mr. Bryan as William J. Brennings, one of the $12 plates.

feet and raised his hand. Mr. Coker pulled him back into his seat. The cheering went on. Then Mr. Coker rose, and stood a moment and raised his hand for silence. Instead of ceasing the crowd broke forth louder than ever. Do what he could Mr. Coker could not silence the crowd. After nearly fifteen minutes of cheering the applause began to decrease. Mingled cheers and hisses, the latter for silence lasted a minute longer. The cheers for "Our Next President" brought out a final cheer, but an effort to repeat it was drowned in cries of "Puthim out!" The enthusiasm nearly carried the crowd away. The throng at the Madison avenue end of the garden jammed down the aisles and the 60 odd policemen at that point had to do battle with the crowd to keep it under control.

COL. BRYAN'S SPEECH.

Col. Bryan began by referring to the vast audience before him and said that it indicated an interest in the campaign which must be gratifying to all who realized the importance of the questions involved. He declared that he was not vain enough to accept the enthusiasm manifested as a personal tribute to himself, "because," he said, "the individual counts for nothing except that he may be the instrument used by the people to carry out their own will." He immediately entered upon a defense of the Democratic cause and said: "To say that the people who gathered here who support our cause are the enemies of honest wealth is a slander, which could not be uttered without the one who uttered it knew it to be false. We are not opposed to that wealth which comes as the reward of honest toil and is enjoyed by those who give to society something in return for that which society throws upon them. The Democratic party today is not only not the enemy of honest wealth, but the Democratic party of today is the best friend of that wealth that represents ability of muscle or of mind employed in its accumulation." Col. Bryan went on to say that the party draws the line between honest wealth and predatory wealth, "between that wealth which is a just compensation for services rendered and that wealth which simply measures the advantages which some citizen has taken over many citizens."

The Democratic party, said Col. Bryan, showed its honesty by stating what it believed, and telling the people what it will do. He then discussed the party's well known position regarding Republican prosperity, the trusts and his remedy for them, the standing army, Porto Rican legislation, and the Philippines. He explained why he voted for the ratification of the Paris treaty, and stated his intention to call Congress together at once in case of his election, and submit the question to it.

When Col. Bryan finished speaking a large part of the crowd went with him, and large numbers, too remaining to hear Mr. Stevenson and the other speakers. Mr. Bryan made short talks at Madison avenue and 24th street, at Tammany and Cooper Union. All his way through the city was one continuous, overwhelming ovation. It was all characterized by Mr. Bryan as "Wonderful."

THE DINNER AT THE HOFFMAN.

New York, Oct. 16—The dinner tendered Colonel Bryan at the Hoffman House at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon was not held in the Moorish room, as at first intended, but in the Salon Louis Quinze. Fifty covers were laid, an increase of the original number. The room was beautifully decorated with laurel leaves, palms and evergreens. Colonel Bryan's portrait, framed in a silk American flag, was just behind the chair reserved for Mayor Van Wyck, the presiding officer. It was discovered during the afternoon that the decorator had, in arranging the portrait of Colonel Bryan, entwined the Filipino and American colors about the picture. This was believed to be an error and at dinner time the colors of Aguinaldo were conspicuously absent.

Fifteen persons sat at the table reserved for the guest of honor and other distinguished persons. The remaining guests sat at smaller tables. All the tables were decorated with flowers, roses predominating. The service was the best the house could provide—linens of the most costly sort, the heaviest plate, cut glass and the best of china. Although Colonel Bryan did not drink his wine, glasses were provided just as for the other guests. Mayor Van Wyck sat in an inlaid chair brought from Arabia. On either side of him, two and two, were special chairs, on which sat Colonel Bryan, Mr. Coker, Adlai E. Stevenson and Wm. R. Hearst. When all were seated Colonel Bryan was between Richard Coker and Mayor Van Wyck. The guests at the main table were:

At each plate was placed a souvenir program bound in heavy dark paper with the name of each guest in gold lettering on the cover. The menu was on cards, plain except for a portrait of Colonel Bryan above and the American flag in colors to the right.

The much disputed cost of the dinner was settled by the Hoffman House management who said that the cost was $12 per plate, exclusive of the wines.

It took from 5:45 to 7 p. m. to dispose of the many courses and soon after the party got into carriages and were driven to Madison Square Garden.

A DANGEROUS ATTACK.

Charlotte Observer

A gentleman who was on the Southern's passenger train No. 7, last Sunday night, informed an Observer reporter yesterday of a murderous attack on Captain J. L. Smith, the conductor of the train.

The train left High Point on time, coming south, and had proceeded several miles when it was found that Capt. Smith was not on the cars. The train went back to High Point, where it was discovered that just as the conductor was about to step on the platform of the departing train a ruffian knocked him down by a blow on the head with a stick. Capt. Smith's cap was cut through by the force of the blow and he was badly bruised on the forehead. He soon recovered from the injury.

It is thought that the attack on the conductor was made by one of a number of men who have a habit of trying to beat their way on trains between Thomasville and High Point, and who have a grudge because they are sometimes put off the trains.

IMPORTANT!

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 26th, 1900.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

On and after October 15th, 1900, we, the undersigned, will do a strictly cash business. Our reasons are as follows:

1st. Absolute NECESSITY.
2nd. Laundry, the world over, is a recognized cash business and justly so.
3rd. Our accounts are necessarily small, and it causes an endless amount of confusion and expense to collect, besides losses each year in bad bills.

4th. All of our current expenses, such as labor, fuel, gas and supplies are cash, hence the stand we take is forced upon us. While we very much regret, in most cases, to exact the spot cash, yet we must treat all alike, and we see no other way out of the difficulty. We trust our customers will lend us their aid by stating when to return laundry and by being prepared to pay for same when delivered. Our drivers will have positive instructions to return to the laundry all packages not paid for.

We have on sale at office (for cash) coupon books from $1 to $5 which can be left at convenient place at home, so that on delivery of bundle the amount of laundry bill can be torn out by the driver.

VERY RESPECTFULLY,

A "VICTORY" FOR MARK HANNA.

BUT ONE OF QUESTIONABLE VALUE.

Has a Colloquy With Some Toughs Who Call Him a Scab and a Liar.—"You're Another," Said Hanna—Another One of the New York Sun's "Outrages" in Which the Senator Rolls in the Mud.

Chicago Dispatch to New York Sun, 14th.

Senator Hanna arrived at the big tent at 9:30 o'clock, and, aided by several policemen and a sheriff, he forced his way through the crowded aisles to the platform. He was not recognized until he mounted the steps.

"There's Mark Hanna," a boy shouted, and the toughs in the crowd set up a shout and jeer. The Senator was introduced and the uproar began in earnest. After ten minutes waiting the din subsided long enough for the Senator to tell the crowd that if necessary he would stay until morning to make his speech.

"If you fellows fear the truth just keep on," he shouted and the toughs and rowdies "kept on." At intervals the Senator got in remarks. After half an hour of jeering, during which time the Senator made himself heard about twenty times in single sentences, a pause of three minutes came. All was quiet except for a few rowdies who shouted at the speaker.

The Senator said: "Your action tonight will make McKinley 10,000 votes and Billy Lorimer 2,000 votes. Every man will resent these interruptions." [Voice: "Not here in the stock yards!"] "If any man in this audience wants to discuss the issues of this campaign with me he is invited to come to the platform—that is, if he has the moral courage."

"You're a scab," shouted the disturber.

"You're another," answered the Senator, and the crowd turned on the questioner.

"Where did you get your money?" shouted the youth.

"I earned every dollar of it by honest labor and I am paying my employees the highest wages paid in the United States."

"How about the coal strike?" interrupted boy orator No. 2.

"That will be settled tomorrow, and then ask John Mitchell who got those men the 10 per cent. increase of wages."

"How about Hay?" asked the boy.

"How about Straw?" answered the Senator and the crowd laughed.

"Why did Congress turn down the Boers?" asked disturber No. 2.

"Ours was the only government in the world to extend sympathy to the Boers; Congress went to the limit of its powers," was the answer.

"How about Webster Davis?" asked the persistent youth.

"He got $125,000 for what he did."

"That's a lie. I know him, and he wouldn't do that."

"It will be proved soon. He went to the Boers and represented himself as Secretary of State. He proved himself a traitor to his country as well as to his party."

Some queries about trusts were answered to the satisfaction of the audience and the boy orator retired in confusion.

"Did the Democrats give you the gout?" asked a man who noticed that the Senator was limping.

"Yes," was the answer. After a few minutes' talk the Senator retired with a substantial victory to his credit.

Fire in the Southern Sweetgum Factory.

The Southern Sweetgum Company's factory, on Asheboro street, had a narrow escape from destruction by fire last night. The fire originated in the rear of the building, and would have resulted disastrously but for the timely appearance of the firemen. The inside of the building was scorched considerably, though the damage will not amount to a great deal.

Mr. Simmons to Speak Monday Night.

Hon. F. M. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee and candidate for United States Senator, will address the people of Greensboro in the court house next Monday night. This will be his first political speech in this city and he will doubtless be heard by a large crowd.

In the speeches he is making Mr. Simmons is saying nothing of his candidacy for the Senate.

The Youngest Book Agent on Record.

Probably the youngest book agent ever seen in Greensboro is James Thornton, of Haw River, who is only 13 years old. He is selling books in order to procure money with which to secure an education, he says, and is meeting with fair success.

He is a bright young fellow, active and energetic, and deserves to succeed.

MONDAY

"Opportunity" and advantage will meet you at our doors and introduce you to the field of glittering bargains which await you here at Satisfaction's citadel. Revelation of beauty. It is really an education on what to wear to go through our store. Hundreds of ladies thronged our store this week, and all were charmed with the goods and prices. They left feeling thankful they had taken advantage of our offerings.

Great Store Where Women Meet--To Buy

Every day something new pops up in each department, and about as quickly disappears. So, if something choice—a little different—if wanted, be sure and come Monday then, and see the new dress goods—beautiful plaids for fall dresses are here representing every known weave in the dress goods world.

We are very anxious to get you acquainted with our new goods. Of course we don't expect you to gratify your wishes just because we want you to do so. We know that our business affairs are of no particular interest to you unless you can do better here than elsewhere. That is why we want to urge upon you the fact that we are "DIRECT FACTORY REPRESENTATIVES" and can save you money on every thing you buy. Monday is a big day with us and it is important that you so arrange your household affairs as to be among the first that crowd around our bargain counters. Extra clerks employed to wait upon the throngs. "Be quick!"

DIED BY ROPE, GAS AND BULLET

MAN SEEKS THREE DEATHS IN ONE

Saloon Keeper Wilkens Makes a Record as a Suicide—Tells His Wife, Sends for the Undertaker, Notifies His People and Then Dies Before They Get There—Hangs and Shoots Himself and Then Turns on the Gas—What Killed Him?

New York Sun.

Despondent after several months of continuous illness, Henry Wilkens, the proprietor of a saloon at 104 Nassau street, killed himself yesterday, taking more remarkable precautions to insure his death than any other suicide in this city in years. Wilkens was found dead at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the ice box in the basement of his saloon. He was hanging from a hook in the ceiling, the ice box was full of gas and there were two bullet wounds over his heart. The pistol hung by a piece of string to a towel tied around his breast, and a rubber tube affixed to the gas jet had fallen beside him.

Wilkens left his home at 254 East Nineteenth street, Brooklyn, about nine o'clock yesterday morning, telling his wife that he was coming to Manhattan to see a doctor and to have a Turkish bath. He left his watch, jewelry and money with his wife and she remembered afterward that he bade her an unusually affectionate good-by when he went out. He arrived at the saloon in the morning and after chatting with the bootblack, Tony Aronotto, for a few minutes gave him a note addressed to Mrs. Wilkens and told him to deliver it as quickly as possible. Wilkens telegraphed to his wife's sister, Mrs. Schutter, asking her to go at once to his house, and then he telephoned to his cousin Herman H. Kipp, an undertaker at 136 First avenue, that there might be a case for him in the afternoon, and he'd better wait in to look after it. Finally he sent out the bootblack's brother to Kipp with a note. Its contents caused Kipp to hitch up his horse in a hurry and hasten to the saloon.

In the meantime Mrs. Wilkens and her sister had met in Brooklyn and the wife had received her husband's note. It said briefly that Wilkens was tired of life and advised her to hurry to the saloon to take a last look at his face. The women together hurried to Nassau street. The saloon doors were locked. They couldn't see a policeman, so they ran to the Oak street station and, breathless, gasped their suspicions to the sergeant. He sent Policemen Egan and Burns back to the saloon with them on a run.

Egan went ahead, smashed in the fanlight over the door and climbed in. Then he unlocked the door and admitted Burns and the women. The first thing they saw was a note lying on the bar. It said simply: "Body in ice box."

The policeman opened the ice box on the first floor of the saloon and found nothing. Then Egan went downstairs to the basement to examine the ice box there. The electric light was turned on and in its glare he saw Wilken's body suspended from the ceiling of the ice box by a rope around the neck. Egan threw open the door and despite the rush of gas from the interior out are dangerous. They linger in the system; they weaken the constitution. They open a way for more serious sickness. High temperature, thirst, headache are some of the symptoms. Every movement causes the bones and muscles to ache, and even to lie down is painful. These are signs of danger and of worse to come. Drive out the cause by means of ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT. Bilious, Gastric, Remittent, Rheumatic, Malarial, Eruptive Fevers, are all due to a disordered condition of the blood, and can only be driven out through the blood. Doctors say the blood should be cooled first, and for this purpose Abbey's Salt has no equal. Doctors all over the world use it and testify as to its value in fever cases. Abbey's is so pleasant to take that children like it and the most delicate stomach will not refuse it.

ABBEY'S MEDICAL TALKS

Even temperature of blood, like even temperature of life, is necessary to perfect happiness.

down the body. But life had been extinct some time.

The preparations Wilkens had made for self-destruction were most complete.

He had first bored a hole in the ice box ceiling and in it had fastened a stout hook. Then he had unscrewed the gas burner, using a new pair of pinchers, and affixed the rubber tube to the pipe. After that he had fastened the towel around his breast and had tied the pistol to that. Finally he had shut himself in, and standing on a beer keg had tied a noose from the hook around his neck. Then after turning on the gas he had taken the end of the tube in his mouth, had kicked the beer keg from under him and as he swung from the hook had fired two shots into his breast. It will require an autopsy to determine whether Wilkens died from shooting, strangulation or gas asphyxiation, or from all three combined.

Mrs. Wilkens says that her husband had been suffering for months from acute throat trouble and sciatica. The doctor had told him recently that his throat trouble was incurable, and she believes this was the chief cause for her husband's despondency. His business, she says, was prosperous. He had been in business at the Nassau street saloon for twelve years. Wilken's cousin took charge of his body.

WITNESS ANSWERED NEVER A WORD

Youtsey Rolled up to the Witness Stand on His Couch, But Could Not Answer the Lawyers' Questions.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 16.—Henry E. Youtsey, on trial, charged with being a principal in the shooting of Governor Goebel, was still unable to enter the court room today. Lying on his bed, he was drawn to the door of the jury room in plain view of those in the court room and the trial proceeded.

At the afternoon session the defense moved to discharge the jury and continue the case because the defendant was still unconscious and in a worse condition than before. Judge Cantrell overruled the motion. The defense asked that Youtsey be called as a witness.

The sheriff called, but Youtsey did not answer. The defense asked that he be brought into court.

"He is ready in court," said the judge.

"We want him on the witness stand," said Colonel Nelson.

"Very well, bring him in, Mr. Sheriff, and put him on the stand," said the judge.

Deputies and guards brought Youtsey in on his bed, which they placed in front of the jury. Colonel Nelson asked Youtsey several questions, but received no sort of a response, the defendant lying as one dead.

"We can get no response from the witness," said Colonel Nelson.

"Very well, let him stand aside," said the judge, and the bed was carried back to the jury room. Colonel Nelson made another motion to discharge the jury because the defendant was not really in court facing his accusers, but simply an unconscious body. The judge said the law provided that before he could discharge the jury the defendant must be adjudged a lunatic.

Jim Howard will go on the stand tomorrow and swear Youtsey did not let him in Powers' office and that he was not even in the building. The defense expects to rest its case tomorrow.

How a Woman Suffers.

HOWELL, IND., Nov. 26.
I will always praise Wine of Cardui. It has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken in my life. Please send a book about female diseases to the ladies whose names I enclose.

Mrs. MINNIE STODGHILL.

Wine of Cardui

It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues—despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhoea. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride, to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through the Change of Life, this Vegetable Wine is a blessing.

BLOOD

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood. This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.
SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl street, New York.

"Why didn't you come to work yesterday?" asked the boss. "By Jove!" exclaimed the absent-minded clerk, "I really believe I forgot all about it."

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other ailments. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

COLD STEEL OR DEATH.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure stomach and liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at C. E. Holton's drug store.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought that she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying that it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c. and $1.00. Our ruling passions are apt to remain with us to the end. The last movement a mule attempts is a kick.

Large sun spots, astronomers say, caused the extreme heat this summer, and doctors declare nearly all the prostrations were induced by disorders of the stomach. Good health follows good digestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. If you have indigestion or dyspepsia it will quickly relieve and permanently cure you. Howard Gardner.

STANLEY

The Great Explorer Does Not Like the Boer President

Calls Him Dense and Impenetrable and an Enemy of Everything English—Predicted Present War Two Years Ago.

Sir Henry M. Stanley, African explorer and authority upon questions concerning the Dark Continent, visited the South African republic in 1897. He prophesied in letters to the South African that the questions at issue between the Boer republic and the uitlanders could not be settled amicably while "Oom Paul" remained in power.

Said he, referring to President Kruger: "This is the man whom the Johannesburgers hope to weary with their prayers and petitions, but they never will do it. Nor will they convince him by their arguments, for he is too dense and impenetrable. This is the man our new high commissioner hopes to soften with his cultured letters and amicable allusions to the possibilities of restoring concord in South Africa. I feel a reluctance to say it, but his labor will be in vain. This is the man to whom the accomplished and lovable British agent at Pretoria has been sent with a view to obliterate the memory of Jameson's raid and smooth the way to a kindly and humane consideration of his countrymen's grievances, but he cannot make any impression upon an unimpressible nature like Kruger's."

"I wish I could share in buoyant feeling, but the spirit of the Boers as it has impressed itself on my mind since I crossed the Vaal forbids me to believe that while Kruger lives there can be any amelioration in the condition of the Johannesburgers. The Boers have endowed Kruger with almost absolute power, and if up to 72 years of age Kruger has been the incarnation of hostility to England it would be a miracle indeed if in his extreme old age he should be converted."

In his description of a visit to the hero of the Boers Sir Henry outlined his impressions of Mr. Kruger's character and brought out in bold relief the personality of the man.

SIR HENRY M. STANLEY.
(How the Great African Explorer Looks at the Present Time.)

"His good morning in English slipped from him unconsciously, and after a shake hands he led the way to a spacious saloon, wherein the first thing that attracted my attention was a large and coarse oil painting of him."

"It happened that the seat shown to me placed Mr. Kruger and his picture directly in line, in front of me, and I was thus forced to compare the original with the copy. This small fact proved to be the A, B, C of my study of the man of destiny of South Africa. It was clear that neither Kruger nor his friends knew anything of art, for the picture was an exaggerated reproduction of every defect in the president's homely features—the low, narrow, unintellectual brow over small eyes, and heavy, massive expanse of face beneath.

"Presently the president spoke—a mouthful of strange guttural words—in a voice that was like a large gurgling, and as the great jaws and cheeks and mouth heaved and opened I stole a glance at the picture, and it did not seem to me as if the painter had labeled the man."

"In appearance he is only a sullen, brutal looking concierge, dressed in old-fashioned, ill-made black clothes. He appears to know nothing outside of burgherdom. He has neither manners nor taste. His literature seems to be limited to the Bible and a few treatises and documents about the republic. He has no intrinsic excellence of character that should appeal to the admiration of the public, but what he does know he knows well. He knows the simplicity of his rude and bearded brethren of the veldt. He can play upon their fears and their creed with perfect effect, and it is in the nature of his ill-conditioned personality to say 'No!' All the rest has fallen to him because he is so stubborn, so unyielding, and others so vacillating and so pitifully weak. He is preeminently a Boer of Boers in character, in intellect and in disposition. That is one reason why he has such absolute control over his people. His obstinacy his people call strength. Age and its infirmities have intensified it. His reserve—born of self-pride, consciousness of force, limited ambitions and self-reliance—they call a diplomatic gift. His disposition, morose from birth, breeding, isolation fastened by contact with his kind, is unyielding and selfish, and has been hardened by contempt of the verbose weaklings who have measured themselves against him."

"I was told by the introducer after the interview was over that the president had already read a chapter in the Bible, and that it is a custom to do so every morning before appearing in public."

High Point is a great place for bicycles thieves. The police officers were this morning notified of another wheel that was stolen there last night.

Maj. W. A. Guthrie is one of the wittiest orators in the State and everybody should hear him at the court house tomorrow night at 7.30 o'clock.

News reached the city last night of the death of Mr. J. B. Mason, Sr., of Chapel Hill. He died suddenly late yesterday afternoon, but further particulars could not be obtained—Durham Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Shields, who are now boarding at the Guilford, will go to housekeeping again. They have rented the house on North Elm street formerly occupied by Mr. Nelson King and family.

Butte, Mont., Miner: J. H. Fariss, the well-known and popular real estate and insurance agent, left last night for North Carolina to visit his old home at Greensboro, whence he goes to Winston, on the 24th, where he will be married on that date to Miss Lucretia Gorrell. Mr. Fariss and bride will come to Butte about the middle of November, where they will reside.

Mr. N. T. Cobb, manager of the Thomas & Cobb Manufacturing Company, of Sanford, passed through the city today, returning home from a visit to relatives in the northwest. He says that the prevailing opinion out there is that the speaking of Mr. Bryan and Col. Roosevelt has passed the point at which any good is being accomplished by either. He also says that the reports that Roosevelt, Hanna and other Republican candidates, are being interrupted are fakes.
